During the term of my office in London, I recd no demand for payment of Income tax on my Salary and none was paid I thought it was unnecessary to take up the matter until the need for it actually arose.
I understood that the grant of Exemption in the case of certain Officers in the High Commrs Office was on account of the reciprocity of Courtesy extended to Officers of the Overseas
Trade Dept in India Since my Successor has been in charge of the Office also no demands would seem to have been made for payment of Income tax In these circumstances it seems an Expedient to avoid the question until the need for
